Playwrights are people who write plays. They write lines of dialogue for the actors to speak. The dialogue gives us information about the story, the characters, and the way the characters feel about one another and their situation. the way the actors deliver (speak) their lines also tell you a lot about the character; something that makes the character convincing or believable.

Directors have the final say on all artistic aspects of a production, and are in charge of everything that happens on stage. This person must be a mixture of educator, diplomat, artist, mind reader and drill sergeant.

Actors experiment with different ways to deliver their lines before they decide which best works to both the story and shed light on the character.

Cast Of Characters and solos they sing in the in Godspell:

Jesus: A gentle, charismatic leader. Solos: Save the People, All for the Best (duet with Judas), Alas for You.

John the Baptist/Judas: Charismatic, slightly "dangerous" at times. Through much of the play, he's Jesus's right hand man. Solos: Prepare Ye, All for the Best (duet with Jesus).

Herb: (also known as Baggy Pants Comic). He's the funny one. He's also our "director" at the top of the show.

Lamar: Shy and sweet. Maybe a little slow on the uptake. Lets his dummy speak for him from time to time. Solos: All Good Gifts

Jeffrey: Very playful (does rope tricks or juggling).

Joanne: Confident and rather mystical. Bold and not afraid to take things on. Solos: O, Bless the Lord My Soul

Robin: A real sweetheart. Has a gentle, maternal nature.

Peggy: Great energy and enthusiasm.

Sonia: Has a playful sexuality, maybe a bit campy and vampy.

Gilmer: She's rather a tomboy. Throws many a character voice.

Listening for Lines

When you attend Godspell, listen for these lines; how they are delivered (sang/sung) and observe what that tells you about the different characters and how they feel.

*"Shall crime bring crime forever,
Strength aiding still the strong?
Is it thy will, o Father,
That men shall toil for wrong?"*

*"When wilt thou save the people?
Oh God of mercy, when? Not kings and lords, but nations.
Not thrones and crowns, but men!"*

*"Learnin' ev'ry line & ev'ry last commandment, may not help you,
but it couldn't hurt.
First ya gotta read 'em,
then ya gotta heed 'em. Ya never know when you're gonna need 'em"*

“Learn Your Lessons Well”

Discussion Questions:

- In Godspell there is a story about a man who is given more time to pay his debts but does not do the same for one who owns him. What do you think the message in this story is?
- The show's lessons are often told through metaphors, for example: “no servant can be a slave to two masters.” What do you think this phrase means?
- How can the morals of the parables used in Godspell, inspire people to be upstanding members of society?
- How can taking others into consideration before you make decisions positively affect you and your community?

Writing Prompts

In the musical Godspell, there is a story about the “Good Samaritan” who helped an injured person he saw by the side of the road. Other people passed by the man and had not helped him. The phrase “Good Samaritan” is now used to mean any person who helps out a stranger in need.

Have you ever helped out a person you didn't know? Write a story using your own experiences helping people.

The cast of Godspell sings about being “The Light of the World” and about the good things they are doing for their communities. In the middle of the light bulb below, write your name. Then use the light lines to write the good things that you are doing for your community. Your community can be your family, your town, your school, your class or other groups you belong to.

Choose a character from the play that went through a change between the beginning & end of the story.

1. In the first box, list traits the character displays at the beginning of the play.
2. In the last box, list traits the character displays towards the end of the play. Differences may be in how the character acts, how they treat others, or an emotional change.
3. Now go back to the middle, arrow box. What caused this character to change?
4. List people, events, decisions, and anything else you can think of that may have impacted this character.

Characteristics with we first meet the character

Factors that influence a change in personality

Characteristics of "changed character"

What's the difference between the phrases:

"an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth"

"if someone says you on the right cheek, turn and offer him your left"?

In Godspell, the characters bicker tease & fight, but never bully. Some of the lessons you will learn include:

1. Examining your own faults before faulting others.
2. Turning the other cheek.
3. Treating others as you would like them treat you.
4. Coming together as a community.

How would you use the ideas to create anti-bullying messages in your classroom? How can you use the ideas from Godspell to create a caring community in your school and city?

Storytelling In Godspell

Questions And Discussion Prompts

Godspell is presented as a story being shared with the audience by a group of storytellers.

- What is a story? What is the function of storytelling in a society? Between generations?
- What is the first story you can ever remember hearing? Reading for yourself?

Tell Your Story

Tell your own stories. Start out by gathering in a circle and, one by one, telling one thing about yourself. Then open it up to anyone who wishes to go into further detail.

Don't know what to talk about? Brainstorm on these ideas:

- Talk about your family. Describe your relationship with your parents or guardians, and your siblings. How many brothers and sisters do you have? Are you an only child? Relate one event that exemplifies your family life.
- What's your favorite subject in school? Least favorite? Why?
- Who are some of your heroes? Who is someone you admire, and why?
- What are your dreams for the future? Where you think you will be in the next 10 years?

Tape record the stories. Notice what you have in common with your peers.

N.C. Common Core Standards for English Language Arts and Literacy R.L.1.2: Retell stories, including key details, & demonstrate understanding of their central message and lesson. SL.2: Ask and answer questions about key details in a text read aloud or information presented orally or through other media. L.1.4a: Use sentence-level context as a clue to the meaning of a word or phrase. North Carolina Essential Standards, Information and Technology Standards 2.TT.1.1: Use a variety of technology tools to gather data & information.

Production Elements In Godspell

Props are objects which are used in performance. Usually, they are things which are held or handled by actors. What are some of the props used in Godspell?

- How are the props treated? Are they tossed around or held with respect?
- Are objects ever given a different use? For example, is a shoe given a more significant purpose?
- How do the props draw you into the world of the musical? Are they ever distracting?
- Do the objects onstage ever seem to have more power than they would in every day existence? Do they ever seem magical?

Research the origins of the word, "props".

- Design your own sets and costumes for Godspell. Explain the reasons for your choices.
- Draw costumes for characters that portray their individual personalities.
- Be sure to include shoes for each of them.
- How can you differentiate Jesus and Judas from the rest of the characters?
